

Bio – Dr. Khami Chokani

Dr. Khami Chokani is a Public Health Physician with over 35 years of international experience in resource-rich to resource-poor environments, from warzone, to war-torn, to peaceful democratic states. His primary areas of focus have been in strengthening district health management systems and communicable disease management in these areas.

Since moving from Nashville, Tennessee to Saskatchewan in November 2001, Dr. Chokani has worked in Public Health. Presently, he is the Medical Health Officer for the North East Central Area of the Saskatchewan Health Authority based in Prince Albert.

On Ash Wednesday, 2022, Dr. Chokani experienced a catastrophic life-threatening health event. His personal and medical recovery since that event has taken him on a two-year spiritual journey he was not expecting. Through many health challenges he continues to find the place God has set aside for him.

Dr. Chokani has been married to his wife Ann-Marie for 17 years, with three children and two grandchildren.
